

BEST NEW PLAY
2020 OLIVIER AWARD

'TOM STOPPARD'S MASTERPIECE.
MAGNIFICENT.'

The Independent

“An unforgettable play from the heart”

--The Telegraph

After opening to critical acclaim in London, where it won the Olivier Award for Best New Play, Tom Stoppard’s “unforgettable family saga” (The Sunday Times) comes to Broadway.

Humane and heartbreaking, LEOPOLDSTADT is perhaps the most personal play of four-time Tony Award® winner Stoppard’s unmatched career. Set in Vienna, the production takes its title from the Jewish quarter, where many found sanctuary in its crowded tenements. Beginning in the last days of 1899 and following one extended family into the heart of the 20th century, this impassioned drama of love and endurance spans fifty years.

“This is a momentous new play. Tom Stoppard has reached back into his own family history to craft a work that is both epic and intimate; that is profoundly personal, but which concerns us all,” lauds the Financial Times.

With a cast of 38 directed by Tony nominee Patrick Marber (Travesties, Closer), this “magnificent masterpiece” (The Independent Times), full of the playwright’s usual wit and beauty, must not be missed.

LONGACRE THEATRE
220 West 48th Street
New York, NY 10036

Groups 10+

Previews begin September 14, 2022

Opening Night October 2, 2022

Running Time 2 hours, with no intermission

Recommended for ages 10+

Limited Engagement through January 29, 2023

GreatWhiteWay.com

(212) 757-9117 | (888) 517-0112